Personal skills:
Business Admin diploma – accounting and marketing major.
Work in middle management using skills of inventory control, new area development and set-up operations structure. Reporting to upper management including issues and resolve planning or review for change. Record maintenance for quarterly and annual review.

My desire to maintain the position of Secretary of the BCFOA is basically that I have retired from the field but the passion for tackle football and desire to give back to the sport.
The executive of any organization needs structure of all elected and the organization is no different than the members the executive oversees. We all have a defined position to maintain but collectively create a team that is accountable to members and related governing bodies.
As a provincial body, the BCFOA deals with many leagues, members, and funds. As secretary I feel I am capable to represent the BCFOA to maintain records and other duties as required of the executive.
